There is a slight vein of humor in the late Indian scare, says the Journal, Captain John, of the Shoshons, told the Belmont people that his tribe was simply massed for the purpose of protecting the whites from the Putes; in the meantime Chief Naches states to the Journal that should the whites need any help in case of a Shoshone outbreak, the Putes would stand in.

Fish for Anybody.

There are a few million fish at this end of Washoe Lake, entirely land locked. They are being rapidly destroyed by cranes and pelicans and if not taken away by parties who wish to stock their own private ponds they will soon be gone. The water is not over a foot deep and unless a storm sets in raising the lake high enough to release them, they will be packed in the ice the first cold snap but not shipped. Perch and whitefish seem to prevail.

They Have a Nursery.

Some time ago some unscrupulous tree agent circulated a report in Douglas and Ormsby counties, that Mr. Jerome Caldwell the agent of Hammon Bros., did not get his trees from any regular nursery, as the Hammon Bros. had none.

The following item from the Millford Mail (Oregon,) effectively disposes of that statement. It says:

A car load of mixed fruit trees are to be shipped, from here to Nevada. They are from the fine nursery of Hammon Bros., of Medford, who have gained a wide reputation for good thrifty trees. The packing of the trees is personally overseen by W. P. Hammon, and so thoroughly does he prepare them, that the loss will be very light. He has eight men employed to aid him in preparing and packing the trees for shipment and the car will be started from here to-morrow, billed through to Nevada.

Hammon Brothers are indeed doing business in a business like manner. With their preparing of twenty car load of apples for shipment, and the present shipment of trees, they are furnishing employment for over twenty-five men. They are selling trees and buying back the apples, and are thus making business for the farmer, the laborer, and themselves. They have 100,000 fruit trees for sale, on their fine farm east of Medford, this fall and the coming spring embracing the leading varieties of apples, pears, plums, prunes, cherry, peaches etc., etc., of which see their ad in another column. They should indeed be encouraged as they are helping out the valley in general and Medford in particular.

Another Road.

It is announced that a railroad is about to be built from Denver to Salt Lake City. The road will be 286 miles shorter than the Denver & Rio Grande route. The new road is destined to reach the Pacific and will, most likely take a southern direction from Salt Lake, and that is by far the shortest way of reaching the ocean, the grade is easier and the heavy snow belt being avoided.—Belmont Courier

MARRIED.

KLUFLINGER-SPIELMAUN.—In Carson City, November 22, 1890, at the St. Charles Hotel, George Kluffling and Carrie Spielmaun both of this county, Rev. Geo. R. Bird officiating.

No Grub for the Boy.

On Sunday, McCrimmon the blacksmith called at the County Jail with a dinner for his son, who had been sentenced to 30 hours' imprisonment for defacing the residence of A. Bergman by throwing grapes at it.

Deputy Sheriff Pine refused to allow the dinner to be carried in, alleging that the boy was put there for punishment and had no right to delicacies.

Hot words ensued, and the incensed father made a pass at Pine, when State Printer Harlow interposed and acted as a peacemaker. Mr. McCrimmon was obliged to carry back his dinner pail, and the boy was compelled to continue to subsist on the regular County Jail diet.

Mr. McCrimmon's version of the affair is that he first sent another son up to the jail with some gingerbread, and he was refused admittance. That he offered the Court $10 provided it would fine the boy that amount and not place upon the him the humiliation of confinement in the jail for ever so short a time. He claims that before he struck Pine the latter applied to him an insulting epithet and slapped his face.

Mr. McCrimmon states that the Brady boy was allowed to eat food sent in from the outside.

Wants To Join The Combine.

The editor of the Chloride Belt evidently wants to get into Steve Gillis' new political combination. He says:

"The more we talked for a candidate the stronger the voters knocked him out on election day. We asked personal Republican friends to support Will U. Mackey for State Printer, and was assured that their votes would count for him. If we worked for Eckley, Mackey would have received a handsome majority in this county.

We supposed our 'influence,' was great in Esmeralda county, but have come to the conclusion that as a political 'worker' we are weak. Mr. Colcord owes his large majority in this county to the Belt, and he should now send a handsome remittance. Every time we blowed the horn of Winters, the sounds whispered two votes for Colcord. If any man wants to win in this State let Sam Davis and our humble self talk in opposition to him and he will get there without fail."

A New Chief.

Piute society circles are in a flutter, says the Walker Lake Bulletin. A son and heir was born to the house of Captain Sweet-a-Cake Sunday night. The young chief has blue eyes and a suspiciously light complexion. Sweet-a-Cake has been raiding swill barrels for the past few days, and has accumulated many choice tid-bits, which will be dispensed with a lavish hand to-morrow night. We have received an invitation to attend the banquet, but owing to a previous engagement must decline.

Nevada Sweet Potatoes.

Pioche Record: Bob Logan came up from the Muddy Valley Wednesday loaded with produce from his place, including a lot of fine sweet potatoes and some of the finest dried peaches we ever saw. The peaches were dried in an evaporator and came out bleached to perfection and possessed of all their original flavor. Logan's load was easily disposed of.
